Dear Ms. Brown:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 600193 (SOL120715).

The Plano Police Department (the "department") received a request for all police records pertaining to two named individuals. You state you have released some information. You claim the submitted information is excepted from disclosure under sections 552.101 and 552.108 of the Government Code. We have considered the exceptions you claim and reviewed the submitted information.

Section 552.101 of the Government Code excepts from disclosure "information considered to be confidential by law, either constitutional, statutory, or by judicial decision." Gov't Code § 552.101. This section encompasses information protected by other statutes, such as section 261.201 of the Family Code, which provides, in part, as follows:

(a) [T]he following information is confidential, is not subject to public release under Chapter 552, Government Code, and may be disclosed only for purposes consistent with this code and applicable federal or state law or under rules adopted by an investigating agency:

- (1) a report of alleged or suspected abuse or neglect made under this chapter and the identity of the person making the report; and
- (2) except as otherwise provided in this section, the files, reports, records, communications, audiotapes, videotapes, and working papers used or developed in an investigation under this chapter or in providing services as a result of an investigation.

(k) Notwithstanding Subsection (a), an investigating agency, other than the [Texas Department of Family and Protective Services] or the Texas Juvenile Justice Department, on request, shall provide to the parent, managing conservator, or other legal representative of a child who is the subject of reported abuse or neglect, or to the child if the child is at least 18 years of age, information concerning the reported abuse or neglect that would otherwise be confidential under this section. The investigating agency shall withhold information under this subsection if the parent, managing conservator, or other legal representative of the child requesting the information is alleged to have committed the abuse or neglect.

Fam. Code § 261.201(a), (k). Upon review, we find the submitted information was used or developed in an investigation of alleged or suspected child abuse or neglect. See id. §§ 101.003(a) (defining “child” for purposes of section 261.201), 261.001(1), (4) (defining “abuse” and “neglect” for purposes of section 261.201 of Family Code). Accordingly, we find this information is subject to section 261.201 of the Family Code. The requestor is a representative of the Family Court Services Division of the Dallas County Domestic Relations Office (the “domestic relations office”), and she has provided an authorized release from the parents of the child victims at issue in the report. However, the parents were suspected of committing the alleged or suspected abuse or neglect in this report. Therefore, we determine the requestor does not have a right of access to this report under section 261.201(k). See id. § 261.201(k). Accordingly, the department must generally withhold the submitted information in its entirety under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with section 261.201 of the Family Code.

However, section 261.201 of the Family Code provides that information encompassed by section 261.201(a) may be disclosed “for purposes consistent with [the Family Code] and applicable federal or state law.” Id. § 261.201(a). Chapter 411 of the Government Code constitutes “applicable state law” in this instance. Section 411.1285(a) of the Government Code provides in part that “[a] domestic relations office created under Chapter 203, Family Code, is entitled to obtain from the [Texas Department of Public Safety (“DPS”)] criminal history record information that relates to a person who is a party to a proceeding in which the domestic relations office is providing services permitted under Chapter 203, Family Code[.]” Gov’t Code § 411.1285(a); see Fam. Code ch. 203 (governing administration of domestic relations offices). Additionally, section 411.087 of the Government Code provides in part:

(a) [A] person, agency, department, political subdivision, or other entity that is authorized by this subchapter or subchapter E-1 to obtain from the [DPS]

[CHRI] maintained by the [DPS] that relates to another person is authorized to:

(2) obtain from any other criminal justice agency in this state [CHRI] maintained by that criminal justice agency that relates to that person.

Gov't Code § 411.087(a)(2). "Criminal history record information" means "information collected about a person by a criminal justice agency that consists of identifiable descriptions and notations of arrests, detentions, indictments, informations, and other formal criminal charges and their dispositions." Id. § 411.082(2). Thus, a domestic relations office may only receive criminal history record information if the information relates to a person who is a party to a proceeding in which the domestic relations office is providing services permitted under chapter 203 of the Family Code. See Gov't Code § 411.1285(a); see also Open Records Decision No. 655 (1997) (discussing limitations on release of criminal history record information).

The requestor states she has been appointed by the Dallas County Family District Courts to complete a court-ordered social study involving the individuals named in the request. See Fam. Code § 107.051(b) (court ordered social study may be performed by domestic relations office). Therefore, if the department determines the information at issue is related to persons who are parties to a proceeding in which the domestic relations office is providing services permitted under chapter 203 of the Family Code and release of the information is consistent with the Family Code, then the department must make available to the requestor information that shows identifiable descriptions and notations of arrests, detentions, indictments, informations, and other formal criminal charges and their dispositions and withhold the remaining information under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with section 261.201 of the Family Code. The department must withhold the report in its entirety under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with section 261.201 of the Family Code if the department determines either that the information at issue is not related to persons who are parties to a proceeding in which the domestic relations office is providing services permitted under chapter 203 of the Family Code or that disclosure of the information is not consistent with the Family Code. See id. § 261.201(b)-(d)- (g), (k)- (l); see also Open Records Decision No. 440 at 2 (1986); Attorney General Opinions DM-353 at 4 n.6 (1995) (interagency transfer of information prohibited where confidentiality statute enumerates specific entities to which release of information is authorized and where potential receiving governmental body is not among statute's enumerated entities), JM-590 at 4-5 (1986).

The department also asserts an exception to disclosure under section 552.108 of the Government Code. However, the requestor's statutory right of access prevails over a general exception to disclosure. Open Records Decision Nos. 613 at 4 (1993) (exceptions in Act cannot impinge on statutory right of access to information), 451 (1986) (specific statutory right of access provisions overcome general exceptions to disclosure under the Act).

In summary, if the department determines the submitted information is related to persons who are parties to a proceeding in which the domestic relations office is providing services permitted under chapter 203 of the Family Code and release of the information is consistent with the Family Code, then the department must make available to the requestor information that shows identifiable descriptions and notations of arrests, detentions, indictments, informations, and other formal criminal charges and their dispositions and withhold the remaining information under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with section 261.201 of the Family Code. However, if the department determines either that the report is not related to persons who are parties to a proceeding in which the domestic relations office is providing services permitted under chapter 203 of the Family Code or that disclosure of the information is not consistent with the Family Code, then the department must withhold the submitted information in its entirety under section 261.201 of the Family Code in conjunction with section 552.101 of the Government Code.

This letter ruling is limited to the particular information at issue in this request and limited to the facts as presented to us; therefore, this ruling must not be relied upon as a previous determination regarding any other information or any other circumstances.

This ruling triggers important deadlines regarding the rights and responsibilities of the governmental body and of the requestor.
