City of Fort Worth

OR2022-37656

Dear Ms. Williams:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 988301 (ORR# E004817).

The City of Fort Worth (the "city") received a request for information pertaining to a specified address. The city states it has released some of the requested information, but claims some of the submitted information is excepted from disclosure under section 552.101 of the Government Code. We have considered the claimed exception and reviewed the submitted information.

Section 552.101 of the Government Code excepts from disclosure "information considered to be confidential by law, either constitutional, statutory, or by judicial decision." Gov't Code § 552.101. Section 552.101 encompasses the doctrine of common-law privacy, which protects information that is (1) highly intimate or embarrassing, the publication of which would be highly objectionable to a reasonable person, and (2) not of legitimate concern to the public. Indus. Found. v. Tex. Indus. Accident Bd., 540 S.W.2d 668, 685 (Tex. 1976). To demonstrate the applicability of common-law privacy, both prongs of this test must be satisfied. Id. at 681-82. Types of information considered intimate and embarrassing by the Texas Supreme Court are delineated in the Industrial Foundation decision. Id. at 683. Additionally, this office has concluded some kinds of medical information are generally highly intimate or embarrassing. See Open Records Decision No. 455 (1987). The Third Court of Appeals has concluded public citizens' dates of birth are protected by common-law privacy pursuant to section 552.101. See Paxton v. City of Dallas, No. 03-13-00546-CV, 2015 WL 3394061, at *3 (Tex. App.—Austin May 22, 2015, pet. denied) (mem. op.). The city must withhold the submitted dates of birth under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with common-law privacy. We also find the following information satisfies the standard articulated by the Texas Supreme Court in the Industrial

Foundation decision: the information that the city has marked under common-law privacy; and the information we have indicated under common-law privacy, a portion of which we have marked as a representative sample. Accordingly, the city must also withhold this information under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with common-law privacy.

Section 552.130 of the Government Code provides information relating to a motor vehicle operator's license, driver's license, motor vehicle title or registration, or personal identification document issued by an agency of this state or another state or country is excepted from public release. See Gov't Code § 552.130. The city must withhold the submitted motor vehicle record information, a representative sample of which we have marked under section 552.130 of the Government Code.

In summary, the city must withhold the following under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with common-law privacy: (1) the submitted dates of birth; (2) the information that the city has marked under common-law privacy; and (3) the information we have indicated under common-law privacy, a portion of which we have marked as a representative sample. The city must also withhold the submitted motor vehicle record information, a representative sample of which we have marked under section 552.130 of the Government Code. The city must release the remaining information.
